Gainesville, TX – 23 August 2024 – The Gainesville Municipal Airport (KGLE) is hosting the Texas Chapter Antique Airplane Association (Texas AAA) for their annual Fall Festival of Flight. This fly-in, set for September 20 and 21, promises to be a vibrant celebration of aviation history, bringing together a diverse community of aviation enthusiasts, veterans, and friends and family across the region.

“At the Texas Chapter Antique Airplane Association, we are deeply passionate about preserving the history and spirit of aviation,” says Bruce Putney, Fly-In Chairman for the Texas AAA. “This event is more than just a gathering—it’s a celebration of the incredible legacy that antique airplanes represent. We love working with our broad community, including warbird enthusiasts, veterans, and museums to create an event that truly has something for everyone. We’re working hard to make 2024 our best fly-in yet and we can’t wait to welcome everyone to Gainesville and have the communities mingle for a weekend of fun, fellowship, and flying.”

“We are thrilled to host the event at our airport,” said Dave Vinton, Director of the Gainesville Municipal Airport. “This is a wonderful opportunity for our community to come together and experience the beauty and history of aviation firsthand. The Texas AAA has a great lineup, and we’re excited to see the airport filled with stunning aircrafts, passionate aviators, and enthusiastic visitors of all ages. It’s an honor for us to be able to bring an event like this to our community, and we look forward to mixing our aviation and Gainesville communities during what promises to be an unforgettable weekend.”
